E. School Declaration and Consent Terms

The School confirms that it has read and understood the participation rules, entry submission requirements, and related terms of the Origin CG International Creativity Competition 2026, and agrees to comply with the following terms:

1. The School confirms that all participating students are students of the School and meet the eligibility requirements of the School Group. For a team entry, all team members must come from the School, and the School shall designate a supervising teacher or school representative to handle communications and submit the relevant information.
2. The School confirms that it has informed the participating students and their parents / guardians of the Competition arrangements, entry submission requirements, media coverage arrangements, and use of personal data, and will assist in collecting and submitting the required Student Media Consent Forms and other relevant documents.
3. The School confirms that the competition entry should be the original work of the participating student(s) or team, and must not involve plagiarism, impersonation, commissioned or third-party completion, unauthorized adaptation, or infringement of any third-party copyright, trademark rights, likeness rights, privacy rights, or other rights. If the entry uses any third-party models, textures, music, sound effects, fonts, images, videos, AI-generated content, or other materials, the participant(s) must ensure that proper authorization has been obtained and must indicate the source and usage method as required by the Competition.

4. The School confirms that the participating students must submit complete entries and related materials as required by the Competition, including but not limited to the final video, Blender scene file, rendered images, creative concept, story outline, AI tool usage records, and representative prompts. All submitted materials must be truthful, complete, accessible, and in the specified format.
5. The School understands that all deadlines shall follow the time announced by the Organizer. If a competition entry or related materials are submitted late, incomplete, corrupted, inaccessible due to invalid links, or not submitted as required, the Organizer has the right to cancel the relevant participation eligibility or decline to review the entry.
6. For the purposes of competition display, educational promotion, and publicity, the School agrees that the Organizer may, in accordance with the Competition terms and relevant media consent forms, report, display, review, play, screenshot, publish, or otherwise use shortlisted, outstanding, or winning entries on the official website, social media, exhibitions, award ceremony, media coverage, and other related channels.
7. The School agrees that this form and the participation information may be used for competition administration, eligibility verification, entry display, exhibition handbooks, certificate production, awardee lists, and related communications. Please complete all information carefully, especially the school name, participating students' names, and certificate display information.
8. If a competition entry involves plagiarism, infringement, false information, unauthorized use of third-party materials, violation of AI usage requirements, violation of content rules, or any other circumstance that does not meet the eligibility requirements, the Organizer has the right to cancel the participation eligibility, withdraw awards, cancel certificates, remove displayed content, and reserve the right to pursue related responsibilities.
9. The School understands that the Organizer reserves the final decision on the Competition rules, submission requirements, judging arrangements, award arrangements, and related matters. If there are any important changes, the Organizer will announce them through the official website or designated channels.
